

CREATE YOUR OWN D-39 JUNK JOURNAL

What is a junk journal? A highly personalized place for you to express yourself in words and pictures! Fill it with whatever calls to YOU.

Suggested supplies:

small notebook of your choosing scissors glue
old magazines (for cutting out pictures and words) ribbon stickers rubber stamps & ink pad

D-39 image (included)

lines of text from D-39: A Robodog's Journey (included)

*...and anything else
that strikes your fancy!*

irenelatham.com

You may include in your junk journal any of these lines from D-39: A Robodog's Journey:

Hey hi ho there.

Sometimes my guide, sometimes my echo.

But the story's not over.

Today I'm no good at fractions.

Stay calm and quiet. Be ready.

Each moment is a jinglesnap and endless at the same time.

D-39 is like a layer cake. Nothing about him is simple.

The only direction to go now is up.

And then the world unfurls in ribbons of color: yellow-brown-black beneath a swath of blue.

Blue like a dream of water.

I lay my head against D-39's back and say a prayer for peace.

We follow our own rules. We stay together.

How lucky to be a dog, to live in the moment without human worries.

I'm like an upstart tornado. I bear down even harder.

The sky glows red—a reminder that somewhere, something or someone is burning.

My mind hurricanes with thoughts.

A hero listens to her own voice above all others.